

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

Appendix 1 – Old and New Street Names

Many road names have been changed over the years. Normally this has been because a long road that stretched through a number of suburbs sometimes had a different name in each suburb (e.g. Glynburn Road). In this case a change was made so that the full length of the road had the same name. In other cases a name change was made to avoid confusion with another road of the same name.

This table is a list of old names showing the new names alongside. It is based on information provided in the rest of the publication and may not be fully comprehensive. Reference should be made to the new name to obtain derivations and historical information.
